Dear Paul:

It is with sincere regret that I have read your letter of resignation. I know that you could not have made this important decision without having given it careful consideration and I shall not attempt to persuade you to reconsider your plans.

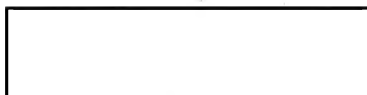

Through more than ten years with the Central Intelligence Agency, you have given generously of yourself and your personal contributions to our work have been many. We have counted on you to perform important functions with the knowledge that they would be pursued energetically and imaginatively. The loss of your services is a very real one.

I wish you every success, personally and professionally, and want you to know that you go with appreciation for your past services and for your generous offer to assist us in the future.

Sincerely,

C. P. Cabell
General, USAF
Deputy Director
